

Make Your Own Adventure Jar

“The Adventure Jar: A Story of Magic for Families Living with Metastatic Breast Cancer” can help open conversations with young children about finding magic, even when things aren’t perfect. Take inspiration from the story and discover the everyday magic that is possible for your family. Simply find a container around the house and design your own adventures using the options below. You can also find suggestions in the front cover of the book if you’re not sure where to begin.

Labels

Choose, print and attach the label that works best for you. The labels can be used on jars, containers, boxes or bags.
